GENERAL NEWS.

A Terrible Story of Disasters in Mid-Ocean.

MANY DAYS WITHOUT FOOD.

[illegible] Demand for Laborers in the Southwest—The Mormons and their Belief—Vast Immigration from Europe.

[illegible] "What do you want?" shouted Capt. Gordon. "We are starving to death," exclaimed a man in the stern sheets excitedly. "Why do you say you were starving?" demanded the captain again in surprise. "Sir, this is all we have had to eat for nine days." He held up the skin of a dog, and one of the men held up a piece of boot leather. "God help us!" exclaimed Capt. Gordon, "come on board right away and we will do what we can for you." Relief was then lowered and the men helped aboard the Nebo and given food. A young German, the commander of the Tiger, told the captain of the Nebo that he had been 121 days out from Liverpool with a cargo of common salt, and he had been in a most dreadful condition. He was bound into Baltimore and made Cape Henry early in January and was blown off shore into the Gulf stream. From that time they had been tossed hither and thither by winds and currents. He had twelve men before the mast, all of whom had displayed the utmost fortitude under most trying circumstances. Provisions ran short a month ago. Beef gave out first, and then bread nine days ago—that is, nine days before spoken by the Nebo. The last drop of water was drunk three days later. Everything, even to boots and shoes, had been devoured. They were literally without any. The captain's dog had been killed, skinned and eaten. Then lots were cast for the cat, but the poor beast was saved by the captain himself, who besought the men not to destroy it. The starving men spared the cat, cut up their boots, soaked strips in lamp oil and ate them. This horrible food gave out, and then the poor wretches eyed each other suspiciously and hungrily, and would have killed the cat could they have found it, but the captain had hid it. The pangs of hunger were unappeased for five days. Some of the men meditated suicide. God knows how many of them thought of murder and cannibalism, had not the steamer come to the rescue. The captain of the Tiger said that he thought something more terrible than starvation would be enacted. The Nebo sent a month's provision on board. When the first boat load arrived the mate leaped aboard the Tiger eating a biscuit. He was pounced upon by his shipmates, who literally fought like dogs for a cracker. They rushed upon the other provisions and tore them in the same way as famished wolves might have done. An officer of the Nebo adds: We got provisions on board and set them at large once more. They shook the reefs out of their topsails, set their topgallant sails and steering our wake. The wind was right aft, but the vessel's bottom was so foul of barnacles she could not make much headway. She was able to get along, however, and when last we saw her she was signaling adieu and thanks.

Immigration from Europe.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Nearly ten thousand European emigrants arrived here last week. The greater portion of them are Germans, many of whom are going south. The Memphis Appeal says: "If 5,000,000 of Germans could be distributed through the south the advantages arising would be incalculable." There appears to be a lively demand for them now in fields and workshops.

The Sun to-day says: "This promises to be the greatest year for immigration we have ever known. Arrivals for the first quarter are far ahead of those for the corresponding period of 1880, and yet the season when immigration is most active is only just approaching. Indications are that the number landed at Castle Garden for the whole year will equal half a million. In Germany there never before has been so violent and widespread a desire for emigration as now, and extra steamers have all their [illegible] engaged far ahead."

Laborers Wanted in the Southwest.

[illegible] April 11.—There is an urgent demand [illegible]

The Mormon Church and Polygamy.

[illegible] correspondent that [illegible] is one of the corner stones of the Mormon faith, and that it can not and will not be removed on any account whatever. Taylor is yet in the prime of life and is likely to fill his office for many years to come. Therefore whatever may be the general result [illegible] among the young in the [illegible] Mormon church, it is not probable that there will be any movement against polygamy instituted by Mormons during the present generation.

A Test Suit.

NEW YORK, April 11.—The trial of the case of L. and W. S. Sachs, sugar importers, against Collector Merritt, began to-day in the U. S. court before Judge Wallace and a jury. The suit is brought to recover several thousand dollars which plaintiffs allege was exacted from them in excess of lawful duties on the importation of centrifugal sugars from Cuba in August, 1879. It is a test suit, and a hundred similar suits are dependent upon the result of this.

"Taking a Turn" in the Southwest.

SANTA FE, April 11.—Saturday afternoon at the railroad camp on the line of the Denver & Rio Grande, forty miles west of Chama, N. M., a desperado from Texas named Baker, with two companions, entered the place, rode up to each store and saloon and robbed each proprietor of all money and valuables. At the last store, kept by a Frenchman, the roughs collected every man in the place, numbering forty, marshalled them into line under six shooters and compelled them all to take a drink at the Frenchman's expense, Baker doing the honors. Finally Baker made them all sit on the floor and started away, threatening to shoot any who moved. As he turned the Frenchman sprang upon him, took away both revolvers and shot him dead. The other men then arose and fired a volley at the other roughs, wounding one, but both escaped on their horses.

Ex-Attorney Gen. Devens Fixed.

BOSTON, April 11.—The governor has appointed ex-U. S. Attorney General Devens to a seat on the supreme court bench.

Cheap Freight Rates in the East.

ST. LOUIS, April 11.—Eastern rail rates were again reduced to-day on eighth class freight. Grain, New York is now 20 cents per 100 pounds; flour, 58 cents per barrel. Baltimore, 26 cents and 52 cents. These are less than Chicago rates, although they are usually higher.

Sitting Bull Ready to Surrender.

ST. PAUL, April 11.—A Poplar River special says that Capt. McDonald of the Canadian mounted police has just arrived at camp, and announces that Sitting Bull will come to Buford with the shattered remnants of his band, and surrender as soon as he (McDonald) returns to Woody mountain. This news is confirmed by official advices received at headquarters here.

A Bold Robbery.

LITTLE ROCK, April 11.—A body of armed and masked men rode into Toledo, Dorsey county, sixty miles south of here, at daybreak yesterday morning, and while part of them surrounded the courthouse as guards the remainder broke into the treasurer's office, blew open the safe and abstracted therefrom $5000 to $10,000, mounted their horses and escaped. An alarm was immediately sounded and a large number of officers and citizens started in pursuit. The robbers were well mounted, but as the whole country is aroused it is believed that they will certainly be captured.

The H. & St. J. R. R.

HANNIBAL, MO., April 11.—The stockholders of the Hannibal and St. J. R. R. have unanimously voted to refund the debt at 6 per cent to reduce the bonded debt, $635,000, and to pay $3,000,000 due the state.

CANADA.

Scheme for a Northern Railway.

WINNIPEG, April 11.—During last summer engineers of the Nelson River Railway Company surveyed a railroad route between the Norway House at the outlet of Lake Winnipeg and Fort Churchill, on Hudson's bay; distance about 350 miles. The surveyed route follows Nelson river for a distance of nearly 100 miles over a level surface. It is claimed that by this route it will be possible to transport grain from Saskatchewan valley to Liverpool for less than it will cost to carry it to Montreal by the proposed railroad north of Lake Superior.

MEXICO.

Gov. Terrazas of Chihuahua, has stationed 400 Mexican troops at El Paso, anticipating trouble between natives and Americans when railroads get further into the interior of Mexico.

A Predicted Alliance.

(New York Special March 29 to St. Paul Pioneer Press.)

A leading operator in Wall street said to your correspondent to-day, I don't think that the St. Paul is going to the Northern Pacific and Oregon Navigation alliance. The Northern Pacific has been offered to the St. Paul road several times within the past six years, but the St. Paul [illegible] why [illegible] I do not [illegible] now. The Oregon Navigation and Northern Pacific have made a [illegible] alliance. The St. Paul road [illegible] have [illegible] make some traffic agreement, but I do not think there is any probability of a consolidation of the three roads. [illegible]

Comprehensive Commentary.

(From the New York World.)

[illegible] Mr. De Young having shot Kalloch senior, and [illegible] having murdered Mr. De Young, [illegible] of course the authorities will act as [illegible] in the case of the new murderer as they did in the last one. The general government [illegible] perhaps encourage this Californian industry [illegible] subsidies.

CALL FOR BONDS.

THE OREGON WAR DEBT TO BE PAID.

Holders of Six per cents Allowed to Continue their Bonds at 3½ per cent. Interest.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Following is the text of the 42nd call [illegible] issued this afternoon:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, D. C., April 11, 1881.—[illegible] the secretary of the treasury, notice is hereby given that the principal and accrued interest of the bonds herein below designated will be paid at the treasury at Washington, D. C., on the [illegible] 1881, and that interest on said bonds will cease on that day; provided, however, that [illegible] holders of said bonds shall request [illegible] bonds continued during the pleasure of the government with interest at rate of 3½ per cent per annum [illegible] of their payment [illegible] request will be granted [illegible] received by the secretary of the treasury for that purpose on or before the 10th of May, 1881, six per cent bonds, acts of July 17th and August 5th, 1861, coupon bonds, $[illegible]; registered bonds, $[illegible]; total, $140,541,[illegible]; 6 per cent bonds, act of March 3, 1863, coupon bonds, $[illegible]; registered bonds, $[illegible]; total, $[illegible]; aggregating $[illegible], and being the entire amount issued under the above-mentioned acts which remains outstanding. The request above mentioned should be in form substantially as herewith presented, and upon surrender of bonds with such request, the secretary of the treasury will return to the owners registered bonds of the same loan with the fact that such bonds are continued during the pleasure of the government, with interest at the rate of 3½ per cent. per annum stamped upon them. In accordance with this note, upon receipt of bonds to be continued as above provided, interest thereon to July 1st, 1881, will be prepaid at the rate the bonds now bear and after that day semi-annual payments of interest on continued bonds will be made by check from this department as in the case of other registered loans.

All bonds, whether intended for payment or to be continued, should be forwarded to the secretary of the treasury—loan division—with a letter of transmission setting forth the purpose for which they are transmitted, and if to be continued they must also be accompanied by the request above referred to. Registered bonds for redemption or to be continued should be assigned to the secretary of the treasury for redemption or continuance, as the case may be, and when parties desire checks in payment of registered bonds to be drawn to the order of any one but the payee, they should assign them to the secretary of the treasury for redemption on account of the person to whose order the check is to be made payable. This department will pay the expense of transportation on bonds received under the provisions of this circular, but bonds returned will be sent by prepaid registered mail unless owners otherwise direct. Signed, WM. WINDOM, Sec'y.

DIRECTIONS TO BONDHOLDERS.

Following is the form of a request for continuance:

Request (date) to the secretary of the treasury: Under the terms of circular No. 42, issued by the secretary of the treasury April 11, 1881, the undersigned, owner of the below-described United States six per cent bonds, hereby requests their payment to be deferred, and that they be continued during the pleasure of the government, to bear interest at the rate of 3½ per centum per annum from July 1, 1881, as provided in said circular; and in consideration of such continuance, the undersigned hereby waives all right to or claim for interest on said bonds in excess of 3½ per cent per annum on and after said date, July 1, 1881. (Here describe bonds, stating whether registered or coupon, giving date of authorizing act, denomination, serial numbers and amounts. Signature and post-office address.)

NOTE.—If the above request is signed by the officer of a bank or other corporation, it should be accompanied by the usual resolution authorizing such officer to act for the institution. The form of the request prepared in blank form for use will be furnished upon application to the secretary of the treasury.

The Oregon War Debt.

The following circular relative to the payment of the U. S. 6 per cent bonds act March 2, 1861, Oregon war debt, was issued by the treasury department this afternoon:

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 11.

Notice is hereby given to holders of the U. S. six per cent. bonds issued under the act of March 2, 1861, and commonly known as the Oregon war debt, that said bonds will be paid [illegible] check should be made payable.

WILLIAM WINDOM, Secretary Treasury.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Naval Movements.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Rear Admiral Stevens, in a dispatch to the navy department dated Callao, March 12, reports his intention to return to San Francisco via the Sandwich islands, expecting to arrive about the latter part of May.

The U. S. steamer Alaska will go to Callao and relieve the Lackawanna.

The Adams will remain on the Peruvian coast.

Washington Notes.

Debaters in the senate are having a high time and many are ready to speak.

The treasury has increased the bullion fund of the New York assay office by the transfer of $15,000,000 in gold to enable the superintendent to pay for foreign gold bullion and coin arriving there. The U. S. treasury holds at the New York assay office and Philadelphia mint, nearly $50,000,000 in gold bullion, enough to employ the Philadelphia mint fifteen months. It is estimated that imported foreign gold for the current fiscal year will reach at least $100,000,000.

The U. S. supreme court will hear no arguments after April 22d, and will adjourn for the term May 2d.

Only a bare quorum voted this morning. Further absentees would leave the senate pursuitless. The democrats say the evening mail brings encouragement to hold out. Republicans say the same.

Secretary Windom's decision with reference to maturing U.S. bonds, has been completed and is now being printed and as soon as this is done it will be made public. Treasury officials decline to give any indications as to the nature of the plan to be pursued.

Senator Edmunds reappeared in the senate chamber to-day and received many congratulations from his associates on both sides of the chamber upon his return from Florida in health.

Senator Mahone has appointed a brother-in-law of Gen. G. Gorham clerk to his (Mahone's) committee.

President Garfield, accompanied by the secretary of the navy, visited the navy yard this afternoon.

Maj. Gen. Pope arrived last night and had an interview with the secretary of war this morning.

Republicans deny rumors of an extra session and say that the president approves the present position of the republican senators.

Representative Goode, who has just returned from Virginia, says that the democrats will easily carry Virginia.

Mahone declares that his supporters made all the gains.

Beck will reply to Sherman's speech on alliance with Mahone.

David Davis' Views.

David Davis has written a letter to John Martin of Kansas on the present political situation. Having reference to the senate deadlock, Davis says that both parties are controlled by monopolists and that neither can assert the will of the constituents. The only solution of political difficulties is in reorganization of parties. Davis says that if the democratic party would disband the republican party would fall to pieces, because it is only kept together by federal patronage and by agitation of the sectional question.

Civil Service Reform.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Secretary Kirkwood, on the advice of the president, to-day rescinded last week's pension appointments and required the 73 applicants to submit to competitive examination.

Postal Changes.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The following postal changes have been announced:

Established—Nasel, Pacific county, Washington, Mrs. Emma Finley postmistress.

Discontinued—Charlotte, Lane county, Oregon; Pleasant Grove, Yakima county, Washington.

Postmasters appointed—George Church, Milton, Umatilla county, Oregon; William H. Fawcett, Nestocton, Tillamook county, Oregon; Samuel S. Hesard, Mukilteo, Snohomish county, Washington; James G. Kennedy, Kamilche, Mason county, Washington; Wm. Bennett, Rockford, Spokane county, Washington.

Union of the Opposition against Democracy in Mississippi.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—A movement has been organized to unite the republicans, greenbackers and independents in the state election of Mississippi. An ex-congressman is the organizer and Governor Alcorn the fusionist candidate for governor. Many democratic votes are expected. [illegible] believe that the movement will divide the colored vote and revolutionize Mississippi politics. A similar movement is [illegible] in North Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana and Arkansas. It is expected to make it general in the south.

The New Movement in the South.

CLEVELAND, April 11.—L. A. Sheldon, recently appointed governor of New Mexico, has returned from a visit to Washington. [illegible] with President Garfield [illegible] the reporter asked:

Are there indications of a political break in any part of the south? Answer: In North Carolina the movement has obtained some headway under the leadership of Mr. Leach, who was a member of congress at the same time I was. He is an able man of excellent character.

Is there anything to hope for in Louisiana? A. There is nothing visible as yet. [illegible] There is a tendency to change in Mississippi, which if properly encouraged will lead to something substantial. It is backed by such newspapers as the Vicksburg Herald. In Tennessee there is a very decided manifestation, also in Arkansas. Senator Lewis, who was senator from Virginia during Grant's administration said to me the other day that the republicans are confident of carrying the next election.

FROM OMAHA.

THE WATER SLOWLY RECEDING.

Passengers, Mails and Baggage make the Transfer at Council Bluffs—All Freight Delayed—Report of the [illegible]

[illegible] over a foot bridge built of planks and cars, to the transfer depot. Nearly fifteen car loads of mail and a large quantity of baggage were carried by employes over the same bridge. The U. P. express left Omaha at 7:30 P. M. for the west. East bound passengers, mail and baggage, were transferred to east trains over the river in the same way late this afternoon, and trains leave Council Bluffs some time this afternoon for the east. The Wabash road is all right. Chicago, Burlington and Quincy trains run out over the Wabash track till they strike the road again at Malvern. Kansas City, St. Joe and Council Bluffs trains run out over the same road to Marysville and there get off on their track again. The track of both these last mentioned roads between Council Bluffs and Pacific Junction is badly washed out and it will be several days before it can be repaired. The Chicago & Northwestern is having some trouble [illegible] Council Bluffs. The Chicago & Rock Island is all right. The Union Pacific track on the west side of the transfer depot is still under water for some little distance and washed considerably. It can be repaired in less than one day as soon as the water goes down. Meantime the foot bridge [illegible] will be continued. Two small bridges [illegible] have been washed out of place but the principal bridge at that point having been loaded with railroad iron, received no injury. The Union Pacific has shown commendable enterprise in arranging for the transfer. General Superintendent [illegible] and Division Superintendent [illegible] have been on the ground night and day, wading through the water up to their knees and frequently up to their hips, together with their men in straightening affairs out as much as possible. Everything will be in good running order with the railroads by Wednesday. The river is falling very rapidly at Sioux City and Yankton, and other points above. A great deal of ice is floating past Sioux City to-day.

It has rained, hailed and snowed here to-day. Snow fell very heavily here for three hours this afternoon. Three inches fell. The storm was quite extensive through Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota and Dakota, [illegible] on the Chicago, St. Paul and Omaha road [illegible] drifts to the depth of twenty three feet. The road from St. Paul to Mankato is in [illegible] snow.

THE SENATE YESTERDAY.

The Virginia Debt Discussed—Vest Flies Above the Snow-Line.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—[illegible]

Debate was continued by [illegible]. The latter said he thought the object of the present policy of the republicans on this floor was to aid the republican party with its vast patronage, its great influence, and its patronage in the state should throw itself into the coming contest in Virginia and crush out the real and true democracy of that glorious commonwealth, and democrats were called upon in the name of the constitution to sit supinely here and see this outrage perpetrated. If the democrats should sit here supinely and submit to anything like this, they would deserve to be branded as dishonored men. He would tell the gentlemen on the other side in no spirit of bravado, that rather than submit to the interference of the national republican party in that contest, and rather than see the democratic party of Virginia stricken down after that fashion, the democratic senators would stand here, God willing, until the snows of December covered the hills in winding sheets.

At the conclusion of Vest's speech a motion to go into executive session was lost, yeas 19, nays 22. The senate then adjourned until to-morrow.

The Senate's Officers.

Following is a list of the officers of the senate. The reader will easily see what the trouble is all about:

Secretary of the senate, $4752, and for compensation as a disbursing officer of salaries of senators, $[illegible]; chief clerk, $3000; principal clerk, principal executive clerk, minute and journal clerk, financial clerk and enrolling clerk, $2592 each; librarian and six clerks in the office of the secretary, $2220 each; assistant librarian, $1440; five clerks, $2100 each; keeper of the stationery, $2102 40; assistant keeper of stationery, $1800; two messengers, $1296 each; one assistant in the stationery room, $1000; chaplain, $900; secretary to the vice president, $2102 40; messenger to the vice president's room, $1440; clerk to the committee on appropriations, $2500; assistant clerk to the committee on appropriations, $2220; clerk and stenographer to the committee on finance, $2500; clerk of printing records, $2220; clerks to the committees on claims, commerce, judiciary, private land claims, pensions, military affairs, postoffices and post roads, district of Columbia, naval affairs, library and census, $2220 each; sergeant-at-arms and doorkeeper, $4320; assistant doorkeeper, $2592; acting assistant doorkeeper, $2592; three messengers, acting as assistant doorkeepers, $1800 each; clerk to the sergeant-at-arms, $2000; postmaster to the senate, $2250; assistant postmaster and mail carrier, $2088; four mail carriers, $1200 each; superintendent of the document room, $2160; two assistants, $1440 each; superintendent of the folding room, $2160; one assistant, $1200; twenty-four messengers, $1440 each; messenger to the committee on appropriations, $1440; messenger in charge of store room, $1200; messenger to the official reporters' room, $1200; chief engineer, $2160; three assistant engineers, $1440 each; conductor of elevator, $1200; eight skilled laborers, $1000 each per annum; twenty-four clerks to committees, $6 per day during the session.

R. H. Stoddard's Opinion of Literary Men.

(From an essay in the Critic.)

I have a great deal more respect for literature than for literary men, whom I have seldom found wiser than their fellows. They have a knack at writing which deserts them when they talk, as it did Goldsmith [illegible] and we overrate them accordingly. The best of them are ignorant of many things they might know, and concerning things they do know they are devoid of judgment. Scott knew so little about pictures that he filled Abbotsford with worthless daubs and had so little music in his soul that he delighted in the abominable screeching of the bagpipe. Byron knew nothing about art, which he affected to despise, and knew poetry so wrongly that he placed Pope among the great poets of the world.

Secretary Windom and the Watered Stock.

(From the Springfield, Mass., Republican.)

William Windom, secretary of the treasury, figures in the complaint in the Villard suit as one of the men who receive the watered stock of the Northern Pacific in his case to the amount of $87,000 at market rates. [illegible]

Presidents little know the self-sacrificing nature of some editors.

CONGRATULATORY.

We take much pleasure in congratulating our enterprising druggists, Messrs. C. H. Woodard & Co., upon having secured the agency for Sloan's Famous Yosemite Cologne, Barbadoes Yosemite Face Powder, and California Pine and Eucalyptus Porous Plasters. We call particular attention to the Eucalyptus Plaster, which is taking the lead of all others. The Yosemite Cologne has already become a household word, and all the ladies recommend the Face Powder. Sophia Peroffsky asked that she be treated regardless of sex. The prisoners received sentence with perfect calmness and indifference.

Final Sentence.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 11.—Sentence of death was finally read to-day in the presence of the prisoners. They were allowed thirty-four hours' appeal. Prof. Soloviff caused some excitement among the students of the university of St. Petersburg by condemning capital punishment, and expressing the hope that the czar would show mercy.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

Railroad Disaster in Northern California.

ANDERSON, April 10.—The first accident that has occurred on this division befell the passenger train last night at [illegible] gulch on the up trip. The gulch, or small creek, over which a bridge about sixty feet long is constructed, about two and a half miles from here, was swollen very suddenly by a cloudburst. It is supposed happening during the heaviest thunder and rain storm that has been experienced in that section for years, during which the bridge was undermined and was the cause of the accident. The locomotive, tender and express car had passed over the weak spot, but were drawn into the creek by the baggage car which had dropped first, followed by the entire train, with the exception of the coach, the rear part of which remained on the track. The accident occurred at 10:30 o'clock. Engineer [illegible] R. Smith and Indian Frank Rogers were killed. Wells, Fargo & Co's messenger, R. G. [illegible], had his leg broken and was otherwise seriously injured. Ben. Kuhn, a commercial traveler, had his head badly injured. Ben. [illegible] and [illegible] Richardson, also drummers, were slightly hurt. Conductor Welch was cut about the face. The others on the train, among the number about nine passengers, were slightly injured. The body of Smith was recovered and sent to Sacramento this morning, also the express agent and Kuhn. Rogers has not yet been found. The construction train that left Sacramento at 4 a. m. reached the wreck at 9:30. A construction train is lying over at this place to begin work in the morning, it being impossible to clear the debris to-night. The accident created much consternation all along the line.

A Victim of Jealousy.

This morning, Dennis Godfrey, an express man, shot at Mrs. Catharine Burns, a peddler at the Oakland ferry. The ball lodged in the woman's dress, not hitting her. Godfrey, without stopping to see the result of his shot, got into his wagon, drove to Mrs. Godfrey's house, South Park, where he found [illegible] Burns in bed. He attempted to shoot Burns, but the pistol snapped, whereupon Burns jumped out of bed, got the pistol from Godfrey and knocked him down. [illegible] and when [illegible] found that Godfrey had cut his throat with a pocket knife. Godfrey was taken to prison where his wound was dressed. He will probably live. Jealousy was the cause of the affair.

There are nineteen churches under the care of the Puget Sound Presbytery, two of which are on the east side of the mountains, one at Kittitas and the other in Klickitat valley. Three of the churches are composed of Indians, whose membership aggregate 201. One of these churches was received at the present meeting, and each of the three were represented in Presbytery by their Indian elders. These churches have been organized by Rev. M. G. Mann, who shares among the Puyallup, the Nisqually and Chehalis tribes as a missionary. The Puyallups and the Nisquallies have recently erected neat churches on their reservations, to which they largely contributed both of money and labor.

The acreage of the Nisqually Indian reservation is 4717. The location is on Nisqually river, [illegible] miles of that river being included within it, commencing [illegible] miles above its mouth. Three-fourths of the reservation is thin, sandy upland, mostly prairie, formerly good pasture lands, and formerly a favorite resort for herds of cattle and sheep belonging to neighboring whites. In 1876 the Indians fenced their lands and fenced out these trespassers. The lands have been surveyed, and in April, 1878, were allotted to 18 Indians. Except the few acres cleared, the reservation is heavily timbered, and a part of it is composed of rich bottom land. The Nisquallies raised, in 1880, 900 bushels wheat, 1600 bushels oats, [illegible] bushels potatoes, 60 tons hay, 30 bushels carrots, 30 bushels onions, 100 bushels turnips, 150 bushels peas, 40 bushels beans, 1700 heads cabbage, and other vegetables and some fruits. They have [illegible] dwelling houses, 16 stables, 5 lodges, 1 Roman Catholic church and 1 Presbyterian. They own 95 head of horses, 77 head of cattle, 100 sheep, 4 hogs, 600 chickens and 12 ducks. The Indians number 100, only about one-half of whom make the reservation their constant home. The government keeps no employes on the Nisqually reservation.

An Investigation of Certain Points Moved in New York.

I repeat that the Oregon party care not a button about the Tacoma branch [illegible]

The city of Portland is [illegible]

The Oregon Railway and Navigation Company [illegible] to the Northern Pacific [illegible] Who then should the Northern Pacific people [illegible] a war with its own stockholders, which must result in a postponement of dividends for a long time [illegible] upon the Tacoma scheme for its profits, postponing forever? Such a war is utterly fearless and wasteful and in my judgment will never be tolerated by the real parties in interest.

I dismiss the subject with one short paragraph. About one year ago a bill made its appearance in congress with a strong backing and I believe it got through the senate railroad committee to authorize the Northern Pacific Company to adopt or acquire the line of any existing railroad down the Columbia river. I ask the question, did this bill receive the sanction of Northern Pacific management? I would also respectfully inquire where then was the "Northern Pacific stockholder" whose potent and loud-sounding voice trumpets all lovers of their country to come to the rescue and now prevent the same company from adopting the same line down the same river?

ANOTHER STOCKHOLDER.

NEW YORK, Thursday, March 24, 1881.

The following article, which we take from the New York Evening Post we think was written by ex-Senator Corbett:

TO THE EDITOR OF THE EVENING POST:

I have read with some interest your statement in the Evening Post of the 22d instant in reference to the Northern Pacific railroad, its distribution of its common stock, and a statement as to the objects of the Villard party. I am a small stockholder in each of these corporations. Both will be of great benefit in developing the great northwest section of the Pacific coast, and I believe it to be for the interest of both to work in harmony. There may be a difference of opinion as to the policy of constructing certain portions of the road at this time. I think the true statement of the case is about as follows:

The Northern Pacific is a vast corporation with an immense land grant, and its near value depends upon a quick construction of the road, and none of its energy and means should be frittered away in the construction of useless and expensive branch roads until the completion of the main line to Ainsworth on the Columbia, where it connects with the line of road now building from that point to Portland. By connecting with this road on the favorable terms offered by the Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company, they will pass over a comparatively level grade to Portland. From that point the Northern Pacific Company, by constructing about sixty miles of road to Kalama, will connect with their road already built to Tacoma, thereby saving for the present at least the construction of a branch over the Cascade range of mountains likely to be interrupted by heavy snows, at an elevation of nearly five thousand feet, over which, with the heavy grade, it would be more difficult to operate than by way of the valley of the Columbia river and Portland, the chief city of the north Pacific coast. Notwithstanding statements made prejudicial to Portland and the Columbia river bar, the steamships of the Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company of two thousand five hundred to three thousand tons pass over the bar and up the river to Portland every five days, and with as little detention and with as much regularity as the steamships of the same size entering the port of New York.

I have the highest esteem for Mr. Billings, president of the Northern Pacific, but think he makes a great mistake in pressing the building of a road over the mountains at a cost of many millions when he can run his cars on the most favorable terms on a grade probably not sixteen feet to the mile against probably one hundred and [illegible] feet to the mile over the mountains. [illegible] Suppose he did, on the other hand, to make an alliance with the Union Pacific, placing at their service all his complete system of transportation, he would have thrown at least three-fourths of all that business over that road, thereby greatly retarding the completion and prosperity of the Northern Pacific.

In my judgment it is of much more importance for the Northern Pacific to have the co-operation of the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company than that they should have the co-operation of the Northern Pacific, and from my intimate knowledge of the country and I think I am competent to judge impartially, I [illegible]

A NORTHERN PACIFIC STOCKHOLDER.

NEW YORK, March 23, 1881.

LET'S LICK JOHN BULL.

[illegible]

There is something [illegible] in the declaration of the secretary of state favoring a foreign war somewhere about the end of 1882. The idea is that such a war would be not only popular, but would furnish a potent argument for the reelection of Mr. Garfield. This is exceeding problematical, for, instead, it might the rather strengthen the pretensions of Gen. Grant. In matters of this sort one cannot, as the boys say, most always sometimes tell. That Gen. Grant will be a candidate in 1884 is contingent only on his life, and if he does take the field, he will not again fool his time away upon a [illegible] convention. He will have a convention of his own, and those who laugh at his ambition and jeer at his conceit will find that it will take a great effort to beat him.

Mr. Blaine is a man of tremendous mental and physical activity. He is no sluggard. To do nothing is hateful to him. It is true that he entered the state department declaring that he required and desired eight years of rest. But this was merely another way of saying he would not be a candidate for president in 1884, and of relinquishing his claims in favor of Mr. Garfield. He will never be content to sit tamely in the foreign office writing polite essays, giving good dinners, and passing pleasantries with the members of the diplomatic corps. He has already taken John Bull to task about the fisheries, and notified the English and the French that American policy is as it [illegible] going, accompanying the statement by an intimation that the next communication will be forward [illegible] All this is well. The people generally would like to see the American eagle flap his wings. The discretion of Mr. Fish was timely, and the aloofness of Mr. Evarts, though not brilliant, was endurable. But we are recovered from our internecine strife now, and a foreign war might have its advantages.

We serve notice on the secretary of state, however, that he must keep his hands off Mexico. We must conquer Mexico by commerce and annex her by railroads. Mexico is to be our gold mine. There is money in Mexico. Already the bulls of Wall street begin to gather after Mexico. [illegible]

The English would not like it at all. But they don't like us anyhow, so why should Mr. Blaine be sensitive about their feelings? Indeed, it is his only chance. We can't fight Germany, because we have no quarrel to speak of, and the Germans constitute our best citizens and we don't want to stop the supply. We can't fight France, because, to say nothing about France being a republic, good Americans who go to Paris when they die would be cut off by the blockade, and would have to swing with Mahomet's coffin in mid-air until the close of the war. We can't fight Russia, because possession of the entire Muscovite Empire would do us no good. More than that Russia is too far off. Spain would not be a mouthful. Austria and England only remain as possibilities for Mr. Blaine's warlike enterprise, and, as the English speak English (though mighty bad English it is) and the Austrians don't, let us take England by all means.

The American eagle is looking towards you at the present moment, Mr. Blaine.

THE NEW CHINESE TREATY.

Among the things which the senate might do, if it could make up its mind to abandon its undignified and ridiculous contest over a few petty and paltry offices, would be to confirm the new treaty with China. This treaty has been favorably reported by the committee on foreign relations, and ought to be ratified without objection. It is said, however, that some few senators will oppose it, because its provisions as to restriction of Chinese immigration contravene their views on "universal human brotherhood." But it is hardly probable that this crotchety wisdom will prevail with the senate. The treaty we speak now of the one which refers to immigration—is quite brief. It contains only four sections. The first section provides that whenever, in the judgment of this country Chinese immigration shall affect or threaten to affect its interests injuriously, our government may regulate, limit or suspend such immigration, but that such restrictions shall be reasonable and shall apply only to Chinese who may come to the United States as laborers, meaning, of course, the coolies, other classes not being included. The second section provides that Chinese subjects, whether they come to the United States as teachers, students, merchants, or from curiosity, together with body or household servants and Chinese laborers now resident here, shall be allowed to go and come of their own free will, and shall be accorded all rights, privileges, immunities and exemptions which are accorded to citizens and subjects of the most favored nations. The third provides that the United States government shall protect all Chinamen either permanently or temporarily residing here from maltreatment. And the last provides that when our government shall have adopted legislative measures in accordance with the treaty they shall be communicated to the Chinese government, and if they work any hardship upon the Chinese then such hardship shall be considered by the representatives of the two governments, with the view to its removal. The sum of the treaty simply is that the United States may at any time restrict or stop the immigration of Chinese laborers, but shall afford protection and guarantee just treatment to all Chinese who may be in the country. This is entirely reasonable. Even those eastern journals which have always had much to say in condemnation of the unceasing protests from the Pacific slope against Chinese immigration, admit that the adjustment provided by the terms of this treaty is fair and desirable. Under it our government may so regulate Chinese immigration that it cannot in any possible contingency unfavorably affect the interests of our people. This is all that could be asked with justice. It is observed that this right of regulation covers the class known as coolies, whose advent has caused most dissatisfaction. The government, under this treaty, will have the regulation of that class of laborers absolutely within its power. With such a power residing in its hands there is no danger that laborers will be shipped over here in such numbers as in the past. Nor does this treaty or any other grant the right of citizenship, though it accords to the Chinese "the rights, privileges, immunities, and exemptions which are accorded to citizens and subjects of the most favored nations," evidently meaning that a Chinese subject here can have just the same rights as a British or French subject. Even if it had accorded the right of citizenship, it would have been in contravention of law, the courts having two or three times lately decided that citizenship can only appertain to whites, or members of the Caucasian races. The residence of those now with us is not affected, so that little immediate relief can come to the howling party of the Kearney sort. But when the source of supply is cut off the number here must diminish by death, and return, and natural causes. In 1870, there were 63,254 Chinamen in this country, and now there are 105,717, but since 1855, 215,000 have come here. Under this new regulation there is no danger that the supply of Chinamen in this country can ever seriously affect our labor interests, and the present supply can hardly be considered dangerous so long as the government is at liberty to regulate the fresh accessions. The remaining parts of the treaty are in accordance with ordinary humanity and justice, and there does not seem to be any good reason why the senate should not promptly confirm the instrument. We append the following table, just issued by the census bureau, showing the number of Asiatics in the United States, and their distribution in the several states and territories, according to the census of 1880:

Alabama	4	Missouri	94
Arizona	1,632	Montana	1,764
Arkansas	134	Nebraska	18
California	75,122	Nevada	5,425

Massachusetts	256	West Virginia	14
Michigan	20	Wisconsin	16
Minnesota	54	Wyoming	914
Mississippi	52	Total	105,717

PROPORTION OF THE SEXES.

Some curious figures relative to the proportion of the sexes throughout the country are brought out by the census returns. There is a large excess of females in the New England states, and the theory of accounting for this feminine surplus is the natural and correct one that the young men as they grow up "go west" in accord with the advice of the late Mr. Greeley, and never return "for the girls they leave behind them." Foreign immigration does not fill up the hiatus, for the reason that the men who come to this country to better their conditions generally seek the cheap lands and the broader opportunities offered them west of the Alleghanies, and indeed west of the Mississippi. In the middle states the equality of the sexes is better maintained, the number of females being just about equal to the number of males. But as we come further west the proportion of females steadily decreases, and in all the new states and territories the males are greatly in excess.

The English census reports shows that in the normal condition of the agricultural districts of that country the sexes are almost equally balanced. But for the whole country the record of births and deaths, which is more accurate than the like statistics in the United States, discloses the fact that for every 100,000 girls born there are 104,811 boys. There is, however, greater mortality among the male infants than the female; and this fact reduces the majority of the former so that the two sexes come up to maturity in about equal numbers. But war, emigration and disasters of mines and seas soon create a disparity between grown-up persons of the two sexes, so that there is in the British islands a much larger number of women than men. In 1871 the women in England and Wales outnumbered the men by 600,000.

A map of the United States is published in a recent number of the New York Herald to illustrate that journal's idea of "Europe in America." The map is subdivided in various sections to correspond in size with the areas of the principal European states. [illegible] contains 201,000 square miles, which is exactly the area of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and the New England states. Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and North Carolina are almost equal in size to Germany. In the area of the remainder of the states east of the Mississippi Austria, Spain and Italy would be contained. And we have still the much larger territory west of the Mississippi, in whose areas other great kingdoms and empires might be swallowed up. The Herald publishes this chart in connection with a report of a long interview with Gov. Seymour on "manifest destiny."

The bureau of education at Washington furnishes data relating to children's savings banks in the public schools of France. The number of little depositors at the present time is near 200,000, who have in these banks something over $800,000. The idea at first was simply to teach the children to be economical and save their little accumulations, though not at all with the expectation of any substantial benefit; but the scheme has worked so well that it bids fair to be the foundation of individual fortunes. The experiment might be tried to good advantage in this country, for our children have more money given them than those of any other country, and they are taught by both precept and example to become spendthrifts from infancy up.

A great deal of interest is being excited by the constantly increasing number of immigrants from Europe arriving at and passing through Castle Garden, New York. The tide is flowing in with a force and volume that are very surprising. The great majority of those arriving push out at once for the west. It is believed that the immigration will be larger this year than in any previous year of our history. The greatest number are coming from Germany. Next to the Germans the Irish predominate. Generally the immigration is composed of people in better circumstances than those arriving heretofore. This is shown by the decline in the number of applications for relief after reaching New York.

It is refreshing to learn that neither Senator Conkling nor Gen. Grant will be a candidate for president in 1884. The former is said to have had no further aspirations for that high office after 1876, and Gen. Grant's aspirations were chilled in 1880. Mr. Conkling would rather defeat the nomination of Judge Robertson for collector of the port of New York than to be president; but that the highest aspiration of his exalted ambition, is not assured him.

These Goods have been sold during the past three years. All who have worn them pronounce the mode of fastening ABSOLUTELY PERFECT.

The many annoyances connected with the old system of Button Gloves are effectively overcome, and the following advantages secured:

1st—The perfect ease and rapidity with which it is laced.
2nd—Its adaptability to fit the different sized wrists.
3rd—The advantage gained by gradually straining the Kid, instead of the old system which [illegible] so many pairs the first time buttoned.
4th—Strength of Hooks and mode of Clinching them. The fastening as it ... is [illegible] which is a very rare occurrence with buttons.

Independent of Improvement in fastening the quality is guaranteed equal, if not superior to any other glove in the market.

MAIL ORDER DEPARTMENT.

The growth of the Ladies' Ready-Made Suit Department for the past two years has been remarkable, and may justly be attributed to the most efficient and thorough manner in which I have executed all orders entrusted to me. A Lady can send a postal card from any distant place, state her size, and color of goods, and within one day can have

An All-Wool Black or Colored Dress for from $15 to $30.

And when not acquainted with me, has the privilege of examining the Dress ordered. No advance of money is required, as is the custom with New York houses, which is such a great risk, as many advances have been regretted by Ladies, who waited for two months for a Dress and then were displeased. Ladies, reflect and give me an order.

TUESDAY MORNING, APRIL 12, 1881.

THE NEW CHINESE TREATY.

Among the things which the senate might do if it will make an effort to [illegible] and [illegible] a few petty and galling offices, would be to confirm the new treaty with China. This treaty has been favorably reported by the committee on foreign relations, and ought to be ratified without objection. It is said, however, that some few senators will oppose it, because its provisions as to restriction of Chinese immigration contravene their views on "universal human brotherhood." But it is hardly probable that this crotchety wisdom will prevail with the senate. The treaty we speak now of—the one which refers to immigration—is quite brief. It contains only four sections. The first section provides that whenever in the judgment of this country Chinese immigration shall affect or threaten to affect its interests injuriously, our government may regulate, limit or suspend such immigration, but that such restrictions shall be reasonable and shall apply only to Chinese who may come to the United States as laborers, meaning, of course, the coolies, other classes not being included. The second section provides that Chinese subjects, whether proceeding to the United States as teachers, students, merchants or from curiosity, together with body or household servants and Chinese laborers now resident here, will be allowed to go and come of their own free will, and shall be accorded all rights, privileges, immunities and exemptions which are accorded to citizens and subjects of the most favored nations. The third provides that the United States government shall protect all Chinamen either permanently or temporarily residing here from maltreatment. And the last provides that when our government shall have adopted legislative measures in accordance with the treaty they shall be communicated to the Chinese government, and if they work any hardship upon the Chinese then such hardship shall be considered by the representatives of the two governments, with the view to its removal. The sum of the treaty simply is that the United States may at any time restrict or stop the immigration of Chinese laborers, but shall afford protection and guarantee just treatment to all Chinese who may be in the country. This is entirely reasonable. Even those eastern journals which have always had much to say in condemnation of the unceasing protests from the Pacific slope against Chinese immigration, admit that the adjustment provided by the terms of this treaty is fair and desirable. Under it our government may so regulate Chinese immigration that it cannot in any possible contingency unfavorably affect the interests of our people. This is all that could be asked with justice. It is observed that this right of regulation covers the class known as coolies, whose advent has caused most dissatisfaction. The government, under the treaty, will have the regulation of that class of laborers absolutely within its power. With such a power resting in its hands there is no danger that laborers will be shipped over here in such numbers as in the past. Nor does this treaty or any other grant the right of citizenship, though it accords to the Chinese "the rights, privileges, immunities and exemptions which are accorded to citizens and subjects of the most favored nations," evidently meaning that a Chinese subject here can have just the same rights as a British or French subject. Even if it had accorded the right of citizenship, it would have been in contravention of law, the courts having two or three times lately decided that citizenship can only appertain to whites, or members of the Caucasian race. The residence of those now with us is not affected, so that little immediate relief can come to the howling part of the Kearney sort. But when the source of supply is cut off the number here must diminish by death, and return and natural causes. In 1870, there were 63,254 Chinamen in this country, and now there are 105,717, yet since 1855, 213,700 have come here. Under this new regulation there is no danger that the supply of Chinamen in this country can ever seriously affect our labor interests, and the present supply can hardly be considered dangerous so long as the government is at liberty to regulate the fresh accessions. The remaining parts of the treaty are in accordance with ordinary humanity and justice, and there does not seem to be any good reason why the senate should not promptly confirm the instrument. We append the following table, just issued by the census bureau, showing the number of Asiatics in the United States, and their distribution in the several states and territories, according to the census of 1880:

Alabama	4	Missouri	94
Arizona	1,632	Montana	1,764
Arkansas	134	Nebraska	18
California	75,122	Nevada	5,423
Colorado	610	New Hampshire	14

Iowa	47	Tennessee	27
Kansas	22	Texas	142
Kentucky	10	Utah	513
Louisiana	483	Vermont	0
Maine	0	Virginia	0
Maryland	6	Washington	3,227
Massachusetts	256	West Virginia	14
Michigan	29	Wisconsin	16
Minnesota	24	Wyoming	914
Mississippi	52	Total	105,717

PROPORTION OF THE SEXES.

Some curious figures relative to the proportion of the sexes throughout the country are brought out by the census returns. There is a large excess of females in the New England states, and the theory of accounting for this feminine surplus is the natural and correct one that the young men as they grow up "go west" in accord with the advice of the late Mr. Greeley, and never return "for the girls they leave behind them." Foreign immigration does not fill up the hiatus, for the reason that the men who come to this country to better their conditions generally seek the cheap lands and the broader opportunities offered them west of the Alleghanies, and indeed west of the Mississippi. In the middle states the equality of the sexes is better maintained, the number of females being just about equal to the number of males. But as we come further west the proportion of females steadily decreases, and in all the new states and territories the males are greatly in excess.

The English census report shows that in the normal condition of the agricultural districts of that country the sexes are almost evenly balanced. But for the whole country the record of births and deaths, which is more accurate than the like statistics in the United States, discloses the fact that for every 100,000 girls born there are 104,811 boys. There is, however, greater mortality among the male infants than the female, and this fact reduces the majority of the former so that the two sexes come up to maturity in about equal numbers. But war, emigration and disasters of the sea soon create a disparity between grown-up persons of the two sexes, so that there is in the British islands a much larger number of women than men. In 1871 the women in England and Wales outnumbered the men by [illegible].

A [illegible] published in a [illegible] of the New York Herald [illegible] that [illegible] of Europe [illegible] [illegible] the Ohio and the New England [illegible] Maryland [illegible] Germany [illegible] And [illegible] have still the [illegible] west of the Mississippi, in whose cross other great kingdoms and empires might be [illegible]. The Herald publishes this [illegible] in connection with a report of a long interview with Gov. Seymour [illegible].

The bureau of education at Washington furnishes data relative to children's savings banks in the public schools of France. The number of little depositors at the present time is near 200,000, who have in the aggregate something over $2,000,000. The idea at first was simply to teach the children to be economical and save their little accumulations, though not at all with the expectation of any substantial benefit; but the scheme has worked so well that it bids fair to be the foundation of individual fortunes. The experiment might be tried to good advantage in this country, for our children have more money given them than those of any other country, and they are taught by both precept and example to become spendthrifts from infancy.

A great deal of interest is being excited by the constantly increasing number of immigrants from Europe arriving at and passing through Castle Garden, New York. The tide is flowing in with a force and volume that are very surprising. The great majority of those arriving push out at once for the west. It is believed that the immigration will be larger this year than in any previous year of our history. The chief contribution is coming from Germany. Next to the Germans the Irish predominate. Generally the immigration is composed of a class in better circumstances than those arriving heretofore. This is shown by the decrease in the number of applications for relief after reaching New York.

It is refreshing to learn that neither Senator Conkling nor Gen. Grant will be a candidate for president in 1884. The former is said to have had no further aspirations for that high office after 1876, and Gen. Grant's aspirations were clipped in 1880. Mr. Conkling would rather defeat the nomination of Judge Robertson for collector of the port of New York than to be president; but that, the highest aspiration of his exalted ambition, is not assured him.

BACK FROM NEW YORK!

We feel perfectly justified in writing pretty strongly of our work in the East this season, for it was our purpose to bring the BEST stock of CLOTHING to Portland that Portland ever had, and we feel, we know, that we have accomplished it. We have exercised the greatest care in our selection for this season's trade, buying only the most serviceable materials, together with the BEST MADE GARMENTS to be found in the largest manufacturing establishments in the East. We have every conceivable style of

BUSINESS & DRESS SUITS

FOR MEN'S, YOUTH'S, BOYS' AND CHILDREN'S WEAR.

All bought under the greatest advantages.

Successful as we have been in times past in presenting for your purchase such CLOTHING as in our judgment seemed best calculated to suit your tastes, we desire to be more so, and to that end have our purchases this season been made.

WE CALL ESPECIAL ATTENTION TO OUR

MAIL ORDER DEPARTMENT.

The growth of the Ladies' Ready-Made Suit Department for the past two years has been remarkable, and may justly be attributed to the most efficient and thorough manner in which I have executed all orders entrusted to me. A Lady can send a postal card from any distant place, state her size, and color of goods, and within one day can have

An All-Wool Black or Colored Dress for from $15 to $30.

And when not acquainted with me, has the privilege of examining the Dress ordered. No advance of money is required, as is the custom with New York houses, which is such a great risk, as many advances have been regretted by Ladies, who waited for two months for a Dress and then were displeased. Ladies, reflect and give me an order.

CITY.

[illegible] Workers. There arrived by the last steamer two very noted temperance reform workers, George [illegible] Dutcher, of Wisconsin, and Mrs. [illegible] Watson, of Philadelphia. They began their crusade campaign yesterday. Mr. Dutcher speaking at half past four o'clock in the afternoon at the Taylor street church to an audience that completely filled the large audience room, and in the evening [illegible] in the M. E. church in East Portland. Mrs. Watson, who represents the National Christian Temperance Union, began her work in the East Portland Baptist church, to a [illegible] and continues her work there every night during the week. Both are speakers of wide [illegible] power. Of Mr. Dutcher's lectures in Boston, [illegible] a [illegible] the Traveller says [illegible] [illegible] Those [illegible] [illegible] of a large part of California, being [illegible] [illegible]. As the result [illegible] was organized and 30,000 signed the [illegible] of the state. Mr. Dutcher will resume his work [illegible] tonight at the Congregational church and will probably continue several evenings. Those who wish seats should come promptly. Lecture will begin at eight o'clock. [illegible] are specially invited.

[illegible] W. LYMAN WHITE.—The funeral of Prof. W. Lyman White, whose death was announced yesterday, will take place at 10 o'clock this morning from his late residence, No. 211 Second street, near Clay. Mr. White was president of the National Business College of this city, possessed wonderful skill as a penman, and a very thorough knowledge of bookkeeping in all its branches. He had just made arrangements for introducing his work on penmanship in leading eastern cities. Prof. White has been in poor health most of the winter, and constantly confronted with the probability of death from heart disease. On Sunday he was no worse than usual, and only a few hours before his death walked out with his wife. On their return he conversed for a short time, when a premonition of his death came to him, and he so informed his wife, but she felt no alarm, attributing it to weakness as the result of his walk. At her suggestion, he removed his outer clothing and lay down upon a cot in the sitting-room, his wife leaving the room for a moment only to prepare some refreshment for him. On her return, to her horror and amazement, she found her husband dead. He died almost instantly and without a struggle.

Prof. White leaves a wife and infant child, also a son, now a young man, by a former wife, a large number of other relatives and a large circle of friends. We understand that arrangements will be made so that his very successful Business College will be carried on without interruption.

THROUGH TRAINS.—It was expected that the Oregon Railway and Navigation Co. would have everything in readiness to send passenger and mail trains through from The Dalles to Walla Walla today. However, the company will not be able to make through connection until about the last of the present week. All arrangements have been effected with the O. R. & N. Co. to send the mails through on the first regular train. Until the route has been regularly established by the government, the O. R. & N. Co. has kindly consented to carry the mails to and fro free of charge. After regular trains commence to run, the government will soon establish the route. The route agents on this line will go clear through from Portland to Walla Walla without transferring the mails from one to another. Capt. E. B. Tuttle, of the postal service, will accompany the first regular train and make all necessary arrangements for leaving the mail at the various offices along the route from The Dalles to the present terminus of the road. When trains begin to run the mail will reach Walla Walla from Portland [illegible] hours.

THE BRIDGE CASE.—The further hearing of the case of Hatch and Lownsdale vs the Willamette Iron Bridge company will probably come up today before Judge Sawyer in the United States circuit court. The entire matter will be heard over again and argued at much length. The defense will present a great number of affidavits to show that the draw is sufficiently wide for all practical purposes, and that the construction of the bridge, according to the present plans, would not be an obstruction to navigation. E. H. V. Thompson, attorney for the bridge company, went to San Francisco about two weeks ago, and there he obtained the affidavits of about 75 persons who have had practical experience in [illegible] and working bridges. About 25 affidavits [illegible] been obtained from bridge builders and [illegible] who are familiar with such structures. These affidavits will all be presented during the progress of the case, in rebuttal of the numerous affidavits [illegible] in behalf of the plaintiffs.

[illegible] YAQUINA.—Capt. J. F. Denney, who had command of the steamer [illegible] Duncan some time [illegible] the schooner [illegible], arrived in this city a few days ago. Capt. Denney has been appointed by Col. G. L. Gillespie to the command of the government steam tug, Gen. Wright, which is now lying at Yaquina bay. He will leave here this morning for Corvallis, and arriving there will proceed at once to Yaquina bay and assume command of the tug. The Gen. Wright will act as a tender in the improvements at Yaquina bay, and the mouth of the Coquille. Capt. D. is a very competent, experienced officer, and perfectly trustworthy. In selecting him Col. Gillespie has shown his usual excellent judgment.

NO TRIAL, NO QUORUM.—The board of trade tried to hold a meeting last night, but not enough members reported "there" to constitute a legitimate quorum for the transaction of business. Messrs. F. K. Arnold, Frank Dekum, Wm. Kapus, Charles H. [illegible], J. R. Farish, J. C. Todd, the secretary, and representatives of the two morning papers put in an appearance, and entertained each other with interesting reminiscences of oratory in Oregon, some of which were new and others otherwise. Another meeting will be called for next Monday evening.

DELEGATES.—The following persons have been chosen to represent the First Congregational church of this city, in the Willamette conference, which meets in Oregon City today at 10 o'clock. Mesdames Soule, Jones, Smith, Freeman, Parrish, [illegible], Miller, Warren and Torrey; Misses Stella Taylor, Davis, Cook and Nelson; and Messrs. Lent, Eaton, Guild, Parrish, W. H. Smith, Swope, Stubbs and Westley. The delegation will go up on this morning's east side train. The conference will close its session to-morrow at 3 o'clock P. M.

PROPERTY SOLD.—The Jacksonville Sentinel says: On Thursday, 7th inst., Wm. B. Gilbert, master in chancery, of Portland, sold donation land claims Nos. 62 and 63, the Jeremiah Elliott property, under decree of the U. S. circuit court for the district of Oregon, in favor of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co. The property, containing 630 acres, was bid in by the company at $3000. A band of seven hundred head of sheep was also sold, being bid in by the company at 50 cents per head.

WILLAMETTE ROWING CLUB.—A meeting of the directors of the Willamette Rowing club was held last evening. The Portland Rowing Association intimated their willingness to take part in the procession of boats on the 22d inst. The resignation of V. L. Curry as captain was read and accepted, and J. B. McCraken elected to fill the vacancy. Mr. W. L. Curry was appointed treasurer vice J. B. McCraken resigned. The meeting adjourned till Friday evening next.

ST. STEPHEN'S CHAPEL.—The following is the course of services during this (Passion) week: Evening services Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 7:30 o'clock; Good Friday, at 11 o'clock, and [illegible] Saturday, Easter even, at [illegible] o'clock. Evening prayer on Thursday at 7 o'clock, and on Saturday at 5 P. M. [illegible] throughout this week. Easter services will be announced hereafter.

VERY ILL.—Yesterday afternoon Mr. Pierre Manset, who has been confined to his bed for more than [illegible] with pneumonia, was attacked with hemorrhage of the lungs from the effects of which he was [illegible]. With prompt medical attention he rallied, and at midnight was resting easy, though very weak. His condition is regarded as critical.

[illegible] POLICEMAN.—The police commissioners last night appointed James Barry, formerly [illegible] under Ben L. Norden's administration as [illegible], a regular policeman vice D. J. G. Lies, resigned. It is understood that a majority of the city [illegible] are in favor of an appointment to fill the [illegible] and will vote [illegible] such officer.

[illegible] ROAD.—The work of removing the old ties [illegible] on Fourth street, south of Taylor, and ballasting the [illegible] has been completed. [illegible] past week a large force of Chinamen were [illegible] in ballasting with uncrushed stone. A [illegible] solid, substantial road could not be desired.

THE CHURCH.—The excavation for the enlargement of the [illegible] the intersection of Morrison and Third streets is almost completed. Yesterday the contractors commenced to haul brick to the ground and masons will soon begin to lay the foundation and build the walls.

[illegible] ST. HELENS.—Judge Raleigh Stott and [illegible] Attorney Caples left here yesterday morning for St. Helens, where a regular term of the [illegible] circuit court for Columbia county will be [illegible]. The docket will probably be disposed of during the present week.

[illegible].—The steamer Bonanza has been [illegible] overhauled at the Oregon City dry dock, and is afloat again ready for the low water boating [illegible]. The steamer Clara [illegible] will be placed on [illegible] in a few days and be put in order for [illegible] trade.

[illegible] WARRANTS.—County Treasurer Showers [illegible] very busy for the past few days in honoring county warrants presented at his desk. Since [illegible] Friday, that officer has paid out a large sum of money in cancellation of outstanding indebtedness.

[illegible].—The Astorian says: The law compelling fishing boats to carry lanterns is denounced in [illegible] by the fishermen. They claim that [illegible] all [illegible] and that many reasons exist why the law should not be enforced.

[illegible].—Mr. Eugene Semple, formerly a resident of this city, has recently been appointed commissioner of [illegible] county, Oregon, by the [illegible] [illegible] has filed his bonds and entered [illegible].

[illegible].—The members of the Ladies' [illegible] Baptist church are [illegible].

THE STRANGER.—The steamship Oregon sailed from San Francisco for Portland yesterday forenoon with freight and passengers. For some reason the passenger list was not sent here, notwithstanding a special dispatch was forwarded yesterday evening asking to have it transmitted.

TO BE IMPROVED.—For some time past Stark street between Front and First sts. has been in a very bad condition. By order of the council the street will be improved, and men are now engaged in tearing up the old plank roadways.

SERIOUSLY INJURED.—The Mr. Kahn mentioned in the telegram from Anderson, Cal., as having been injured in a railroad accident at Anderson, is a brother-in-law of Mr. J. Loewenberg, and formerly lived here.

LAUNCHED.—The Clatsop Chief was launched last Wednesday from the ways at St. Helens, and will soon resume her trips on the Willamette and lower Columbia in better trim than ever before.

Y. P. A.—Regular meeting of the Young People's Association will be held this Tuesday evening in the Baptist church at 7:30 P. M. Everybody invited. Strangers always made welcome.

A FAST TRIP.—The ship Canada was towed from Astoria to Astoria yesterday by the tug Tacoma, making the passage in ten hours. This is the best towing time ever made on the river.

[illegible] FAIR.—A Catholic fair will be given at Mohawk hall, McMinnville, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, April 19th, 20th and 21st.

COUNTY COURT.—The county court which has been in session for several days has adjourned until the 1st inst.

AMUSEMENTS.

MISS MULTON.—This emotional play was produced at the theater for the last time during Miss Rogers' engagement. Those who witnessed the play could not fail to recognize the true [illegible] of the performance. It certainly has not been produced before during this season with such completeness of interest and effect. Miss Rogers could hardly [illegible] of the intensely exciting scenes, and reached her climax as a tribute of extraordinary emotional power. Miss Andrews gave the most substantial and satisfactory indications of strength and effective force in some of the trying scenes. The great scene in the first act between the two wives, was given with an energy and dramatic vehemence that thrilled the auditors. At the close of this act Miss Rogers and the two children, Miss Sawyer and Miss Lella O'Connor, were honored with a call before the curtain. As usual, Mr. Grismer was very excellent—graceful, easy, finished as a piece of polished steel, and always natural. He never rants or overacts. He is stage propriety personified. Mr. Bradley, as the tutor, was the natural, kind hearted, sympathetic old gentleman, and his rendition was such as to leave nothing to be desired. As the two children, Miss Sawyer and Miss O'Connor acted with charming, childish simplicity. Miss Young, Mr. Jennings, Miss Eberle and the remainder of the cast was very good.

THE HUNCHBACK.—To-night Sheridan Knowles' great drama, "The Hunchback," will be produced on the occasion of the testimonial benefit given Miss Rogers. This piece has been very carefully and thoroughly rehearsed, and will, without doubt, be presented in a most charming manner. Miss Rogers will appear in her splendid impersonation of Julia, a character which the lady has assumed with most gratifying success. Mrs. D. F. Smith, the accomplished reader and elocutionist will make her debut this evening in the character of Julia. This lady has many friends in the city who will doubtless crowd the theater to see this lady in her maiden histrionic effort. Miss Rogers will be supported by Mr. Grismer, Mr. Cotton and other members of the company. This evening closes the season, and will be the last opportunity afforded the public of seeing Miss Rogers and the Baldwin company. It is to be sincerely hoped a crowded house will greet the farewell performance.

MELLIS BROS. & CO.'S OPENING.

From seven to nine o'clock last night the large stores of Mellis Bros. & Co. were thronged with crowds of well dressed ladies, gentlemen and children to witness the annual display of dry goods and millinery. Every street car was jammed, and the futile efforts of half grown boys to steal rides furnished passengers no little amusement. The store was brilliantly lighted, and was shown to good advantage. The display in every department was exceptionally fine. Particularly admired was the show of millinery in the center of the main room. Not only were the trimmed goods of great variety and in good taste, but a splendid arrangement of feathers, flowers, brocades, ribbons, ornaments, flowers, etc., was made. Near the first street entrance, the stock of fancy goods, trimmings, underwear, etc., attracted much attention, while the display of evening silks and satins on counters in the center of the store was the subject of much favorable comment. Altogether, the quality and great variety of goods exhibited, reflect much credit on the enterprise of this well and favorably known firm.

LITERARY NOTES.

Mr. James Hunter is the editor of the supplements to the new edition of Worcester's Dictionary.

The house at Ecclefechan, in which Carlyle was born, is still standing, and is inhabited by the village grave-digger.

William D. Howells is writing a new story, "A Fearful Responsibility," which will be first published in Scribner's Monthly.

Mr. H. G. Bohn, the well known publisher and bookseller, is, it is said, engaged in arranging the letters he has received during his long life from people of note, with a view to an autobiography.

A paper by Ralph Waldo Emerson on his personal impressions of Thomas Carlyle, made up from his unpublished letters written at the time of his first visit to England, will appear in Scribner's for May.

Carlyle held the most decided views on the subject of indexes for books. And the irony of Fate therefore ordered that Mr. Froude should bring out the old man's "Reminiscences" without an index!

The portrait of Milton which was once owned by Charles Lamb has just been bought in London by Mr. Quaritch for $1775. It was painted about 1640, when the poet was still distinguished by that physical beauty of which the world has heard so much, but which is missing in all his other portraits.

From Punch: Wife, given to literature and the drama, to her husband—"George, what is the meaning of the expression 'Go to,' you meet with so frequently in Shakespeare and the old dramatists?" Husband (not a reading man)—"I don't know, I'm sure, my dear, unless—well—perhaps he was going to say—but thought it wouldn't sound proper."

In China literary property is on the same footing as any other property. A person printing and selling the works of an author without his permission, is liable to a punishment of 100 blows of the bamboo and three years's deportation. If he has stopped short at printing and has not begun to sell, the penalty is fifty blows, together with the forfeiture of books and blocks from which it is intended to print.

A paper by R. W. Emerson on his personal impressions of Thomas Carlyle, made up from his unpublished letters written at the time of his first visit to England, will appear in Scribner's for May. The publication is made by special arrangement with Mr. Emerson and the Massachusetts historical society, before which the paper was read, and in the minutes of which it is to be printed after its appearance in Scribner.

Gaelic literature seems to be attracting some attention in the west of Scotland. A course of lectures on subjects connected with the Celtic language and literature is to be delivered under the auspices of the Glasgow Ossianic society. One of these will treat of "The First Poet." Besides a work on Celtic literature, which is written by the Rev. N. McNeill, is to appear in installments in the Glasgow Weekly Herald.

The reputation of the Portuguese poet Camoens is looking up in England, where he has been translated about half a dozen times in the last hundred years. Captain Burton, the traveler, has lately done into very passable English a crumpy version of the Lusiad, and in a late number of the Athenaeum has tried his hand at three of Camoens' three hundred and fifty two sonnets, which have not been attempted in English, we believe, since Moore's friend Lord Strangford, turned some of them into lattish lyrics. We are soon to have another worker in this field, in the person of Mr. J. J. Aubertin, also a teal dater of the Lusiad, who has grappled, we hope successfully, with seventy of the aforesaid sonnets, which are not very lively reading.

What the literary paragraphists call that veteran novelist, Mr. Harrison Ainsworth (he is only in his 76th year), has written another work of fiction, Stanley Brereton, which is to appear simultaneously in several English provincial newspapers. He was known as the author of Rookwood two years before the world had heard of a new writer named Boz, with whom he was soon to be a rival as the chronicler of the exploits of highwaymen—Jack Sheppard and Oliver Twist coming out together, or nearly so—but several years after Sir Edward Lytton Bulwer had taken the field with Paul Clifford. The band was scattered before it did very much mischief by a literary detective, who rode a highly-mettled steed called Catharine (sired in the Newgate stables, as the calendar of that institution shows), who passed himself as one Ikey Solomons, but who was really one Mr. William Makepeace Thackeray.

POISONOUS BREAD.

An Alarming Array of Facts Not to be Lightly Read, but Carefully Considered.

CONSULT YOUR FAMILY DOCTOR.

[From the San Francisco Bulletin.]

The frightful and dangerous adulterations practiced by baking powder manufacturers is exciting an increased and widespread alarm among consumers. This evil has attained greater dimensions than the most extreme alarmist could have imagined.

In New York, a government chemist, at the instigation of the Board of Health, makes an analytical examination and discloses the fact that the very large proportion of powders [illegible] [illegible] alum. [illegible] is precisely the same as in the north; it is [illegible] packers [illegible] [illegible] powders is subject to a heavy fine [illegible]

IMPRISONMENT

[illegible] [illegible] brands [illegible] powders should be made of grape cream tartar, which costs from thirty to forty five cents per pound. [illegible]

The Royal Baking Powder Company of New York, [illegible]

[illegible] wholesome and pure. They [illegible] alum, [illegible] buy an honest cream tartar powder, made by some responsible manufacturer.

A series of researches on the part of

PROFESSOR HANKS,

Our leading local assayor, shows that out of

TEN

Different private corner grocery brands, selected at random

EVERY ONE

Contained alum or other impurities, and eight were short weight, some of them 35 per cent. The names of these powders are not here given, for it is scarcely believed that the grocers were aware of what they were buying and having put up under their own name, but the samples and reports are in possession of Mr. Hanks.

We ask every reader to lay down this paper and consider whether the pitiful saving arising from the purchase of a cheap baking powder compensates for the loss of health incurred. After the repeated warnings of science, any mother who continues the use of these poisonous compounds, does so with a fearful penalty hanging over her head.

ASK YOUR FAMILY DOCTOR,

If alum baking powders are dangerous, and be guided by his advice.

Dr. Hoff, the Government Chemist, says:

S. W. JOHNSON,

Professor of theoretical and agricultural chemistry, Yale college, director of the Connecticut Agricultural experiment station, New Haven, Conn.

Professor Barker, University of Pennsylvania says:

PHILADELPHIA, March 28, 1879.

Because of the astringent and irritating action which alum and other soluble salts of alumina may exert upon the tissues with which they are brought in contact, I am clearly of the opinion that the use of these substances in articles of food should be strongly condemned.

If the use by bakers of small quantities of alum to improve the appearance of their bread be regarded as highly culpable, how much more severely should we reprobate the use of the much larger amount of this substance needed in a baking powder. Nor is the case altered materially by the fact that in use the acid of the baking powder decomposes the alum. All of its constituents remain in the bread, and the alum itself is reproduced to all intents and purposes when this bread is dissolved by the gastric juice in the process of digestion. I regard the use of alum baking powders, therefore as highly injurious to the health of the community, and believe that their sale should be forbidden by law.

GEORGE F. BARKER.

The opinions of eminent authorities who have united in deploring this evil might be multiplied indefinitely, but the foregoing are probably the most standard authorities in the United States, and their opinions are but a repetition of what others would say.

In the east, where this subject is exciting great interest, Dr. Hall's Journal of Health says, in a recent issue:

Before committing ourselves, however, we made tests of a sufficient number of baking powders to satisfy ourselves that the substitution of alum for cream of tartar in their composition has not been overestimated, while a careful examination of the Royal Baking Powder confirms our belief that Dr. Mott the government chemist when he singled out and commended this powder for its wholesomeness, did it wholly in the interest of the public.

We do not hesitate to say that the Royal Baking Powder people deserve the gratitude of the community whom they are endeavoring to protect.

Will not some prominent manufacturer of pure candies follow their example and expose the secrets of a business that is doing untold mischief to little children?

Below are given a list of a few prominent Powders containing alum. The many hundred

PRIVATE GROCERY BRANDS

The property of the company on the Clackamas is in good condition for work. Of course a rack will soon be put in the river, and the dam on Clear creek will have to be repaired. It will cost but a small sum to do that, particularly if it is done immediately.

The following extract from the report of the superintendent, will show the result of the past season's work:

* * * * * * * * *

The first lot of young salmon were turned into the river November 29, 1880, and from that on until March 17, 1881, there were turned into the river as they were old enough in lots from 50,000 to 200,000, the whole number being estimated at 2,150,000.

U. S. COMMISSION, FISH AND FISHERIES,
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 12, 1881.

J. W. Cook, Esq., Oregon Packing Co., Portland, Oregon: Dear Sir—Your letter of the 25th ult., enclosing copy of the previous letter, has been received. The terms of the appropriation made for the reconstruction of the works destroyed by the recent flood are such as to render it necessary for us to continue the operations on the McCloud river. It will be impossible, therefore, for us to avail myself of your proposition to use your hatchery. I trust, however, that it is so important to the cannery industries and to the people of Oregon, will be maintained by subscription or state appropriation. I am, very truly yours,

A Brief Sketch of an Oregon Pioneer's Life.

BUTTEVILLE, Or., April 11, 1881.

To the Editor of The Oregonian:

G. A. Cone, Sr., who died at this place April 7, [illegible], was a native of Windsor county, Vermont, born May 4, 1796, and therefore reached the advanced age of 84 years, 11 months and 3 days. The trade of a cooper, he learned that trade, working with his father and to the close of the late war with England. [illegible] the spirit of western adventure [illegible]

[illegible]

In 1852 he moved to the village of Butteville where he soon after opened a store, serving for many years as postmaster and justice of the peace. An old line Whig of the great and honest earnestly devoted to the principles of personal, political and religious liberty, he naturally gravitated to the republican party. He has often remarked to the writer that Mr. Clay, to whom he has often listened in early life had a lasting influence upon his subsequent political course. He was beyond measure the most captivating orator that I ever heard. A man of commanding presence, he seemed to speak from the serene heights of conscious power, grand in eloquence and of dauntless courage. He captivated and led at will the great heart and mind of an audience, as none but Harry of the West could do. Mr. Cone lived under the administrations of all the presidents of the United States, save that of Washington's, sixty years having intervened between the dates of casting his first and last ballot for president. His first vote was given for James Monroe in 1820, his last for Gen. Garfield in 1880.

Mr. Cone was a plain, unpretending, industrious, honest man, who for his many sterling qualities, was much respected by his neighbors, and his [illegible] will be [illegible] in this community. [illegible]

At 3 o'clock [illegible] G. A. Cone, Sr., were followed to the cemetery by a long procession of relatives and friends, who, after an appropriate [illegible] by Judge [illegible], the remains were consigned to the grave.

The Daily Oregonian.

TUESDAY MORNING, APRIL 12, 1881.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Sterling exchange, prime bankers' [illegible] Government, [illegible] [illegible]

Money and Stocks.

[illegible]

Stocks at London.

[illegible]

The local wheat market is still [illegible] at [illegible] for [illegible] though there are several [illegible] The [illegible], the only disengaged vessel now in the river, [illegible] The [illegible], a [illegible] vessel soon to arrive [illegible] on the market at [illegible] shillings. It is reported that an old wooden ship now at Victoria has been chartered to load here at [illegible] shillings, but this statement is not known to be reliable. Exporters are not inclined to pay these extraordinary high figures. If they do decide to take up offers at this rate, prices for grain here must come down.

Receipts from Saturday noon to noon today: Flour, [illegible] bbls; wheat, 5,[illegible] sacks.

There were no entries or clearances at the custom house today.

Salmon.

Comparatively nothing has been done so far this season at the fisheries. Only one cannery has attempted to put up fish—that of William Hume—and this only for the purpose of producing the "first of the season." Other canneries are sending out boats only prospecting. It is reported that the average catch of boats sent out Friday night was four and a half fish, but a gentleman connected with an Astoria fishery thinks the average was greater. The single boat sent out by him on the night mentioned brought in nine fish.

THE BOSTON WOOL MARKET.

BOSTON, April 9.—In the wool market business for the week shows a fair average, upwards of 20,000,000 lbs of all kinds having been sold. There is no change in prices. If anything there is, if anything, rather better feeling. Prices have been forced down about as low as they are likely to go at present. New clips of California, Texas, Missouri, Kentucky and other southern sections are currently at hand. No possible change can scarcely be looked for, particularly as trade in manufactured goods is so unsatisfactory. Transactions in Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces have not been very extensive. Prices have ranged from 40@42c for X and XXX, 43@45c for medium and No. 1. There is no XX in good condition offering, but many manufacturers have fixed upon 45c for this grade and therefore are declining to hold back. Michigan and Wisconsin fleeces have been sold at 38@40c and medium at 40@42c per lb. Combing and delaine fleeces are quiet, but prices are steady at 43@45c for fine delaine, [illegible] for fine and medium combings, 29@32c for Kentucky. Washed and unmerchantable fleeces remain the same with sales of good medium unwashed at [illegible], and fine 25@30c. California have been quiet at [illegible], for fall and 25@33c for spring. Pulled wools continue in request, but at low figures. Some choice and fancy supers have sold up to 48@48c, but the bulk of sales have been in range of 30@37½c per pound. In Montevideo wools there have been large sales at [illegible] in bond and 30c duty paid. Upwards of 500,000 pounds have been taken. Australian and New Zealand wools have been selling freely at 41@42c and carpet wools have also been in better demand with large sales. On the whole the feeling is more settled but there is very little prospect of a very formidable change.

POVERTY AND SUFFERING.

"I was dragged down with debt, poverty and suffering for years, caused by a sick family and large bills for doctoring, which did them no good. I was completely discouraged, until one year ago, by the advice of my pastor, I procured Hop Bitters and commenced their use, and in one month we were all well, and none of us have seen a sick day since, and I want to say to all poor men, you can keep your families well a year with Hop Bitters for less than one doctor's visit will cost. I know it. A Workingman."

Is thorough in its Medicinal Action, and yet so agreeable to the taste that patrons often disregard our injunction to divide the lozenge into parts (say two doses) to meet their respective cases. At the outset it is especially essential to observe the directions closely till one becomes accustomed to its use — when mild action and the most satisfactory results are sure to follow.

Ladies and children, and those who dislike taking pills and nauseous medicines to secure cathartic action, are especially pleased with its agreeable qualities.

Try it once, and you will esteem it highly as a safe, pleasant, and effective remedy.

Packed in bronzed tin boxes only.

Price, 25 cents.
